

Chicken Sunday

By Patricia Polacco

Three children are falsely accused of doing something malicious to an old man. They are innocent, but decide to do something kind for the old man. Their kind act spreads and mushrooms into a multiple kindness that impact their whole community and even impacts their adult lives

Value or skill

Kindness

Random acts of kindness spread