

Stories for moral development
The Dragon and the Mouse
By Dr. Steven A. Tim

Mouse loses his temper with his friend the dragon when he does not get his way. He does not see his friend for a long time and after a while begins to feel remorse. After awhile, his friend the dragon returns and makes a kind gesture of friendship. All is forgiven and they work together to assure prosperity for the mouse.

Value or skill:

Controlling anger
Appologizing